

High Alert Sensor Mat

FOR FACTORIES & WAREHOUSES

The High Alert Sensor Mat can help you protect valuable assets in factory and warehouse settings.

Whether there's an intruder intent on robbing a place overnight or a dishonest staff member snooping around during the day, this innovative new LED Sensormat branded product will tell you as soon as anybody starts walking somewhere they are not supposed to go inside a factory or warehouse.

The beauty of the product is that it looks like any other ordinary black industrial floor mat. If people don't know it is there or what it is, they are much more likely to go about their dishonest activities, giving you a better chance of catching them in the act, before they can do damage to the business.

Belt & braces approach

Whether you are a facility manager or a security firm responsible for installing and looking after security products and services, you will be reducing the overall costs of the security investment with the LED Sensormat. It ignores disturbances caused by rodents, insects, birds or falling objects and only sends an alarm signal when there is a person moving on the mat. You can set and forget the High Alert Sensor Mat and use it together with CCTV and a back-to-base monitoring service or other security products knowing that the facility's valuable assets are safe.
